History of the California Seniors' Golf Association

The California Seniors' Golf Association was organized in 1943 while the California Golf Association's Annual Championship was in progress at Pebble Beach. The "older" golfers who spearheaded the idea were Roy Pickford of Coronado, Charles Lathrop and Ray Williams of Pasadena, and Brace Carter of San Francisco. Samuel F.B. Morse, head of Del Monte Properties Company, was an enthusiastic supporter. Cypress Point was selected as the site for a first tournament to be held the following year.

Other supporters who helped in the organizing program were Merion Gray, Ray Hornby, Ralph Hewell, Walter Egan, Cal Reed, Del Griggs, Jim Lowrie and H.T. Havside. A perpetual trophy was donated by Gray.

The first tournament at Cypress Point in 1944 was thirty-six holes played in two days at stroke play. There were ninety-nine entries. Frank Lindsay of the Riviera Country Club in Los Angeles was the winner.

Following the first tournament, a non-profit corporation was formed. The by-laws stated the objectives of the Association were "to encourage friendly competitions in golf among senior players residing in the State of California and to hold an annual tournament. "Fifty-five years was selected as the minimum age limit. The membership was fixed at 250 (later increased to 300), divided equally between Northern and Southern California. The Monterey Cypress was adopted as the Association emblem.

Cypress Point, with a single course, was not suitable for a tournament with a large field, which quickly materialized. From 1945 through 1951, play was divided with half the field at Cypress point for one round, and at Monterey Peninsula Country Club for the second eighteen. From 1952 through 1960, play was at MPCC and Pebble Beach. In 1961, two courses, the Dunes and Shore, became available at MPCC, which made it ideally suited for a thirty-six hole tournament in which the field alternates, playing one round on each course. In appreciation, at the 40th Annual Championship in 1983, the Association designed, constructed and presented to MPCC, a new scoreboard adjacent to the first tee.

Presently, the tournament's format begins with a welcoming cocktail party on Sunday evening, the first round of play beginning on Monday and the final round played on Tuesday. The tournament winds up with dinner that evening where the Annual meeting is also conducted and the tournament prizes are awarded. Currently there are two championship flights, for low gross and four additional flights provide low gross and low net prizes.

The Association is managed by a nine-man Board of Governors, with one new Governor elected each year to replace the President who retires. The presidency alternates between the North and South. It has become policy for Governors to move "up the ladder", and barring unusual circumstances the new nominee each year will become President his ninth year of service. This ensures knowledgeable, experienced management attested to by the success and stature the Association has achieved.

For many years there was a waiting list of applicants for membership from both Northern and Southern California. The membership is very near full with 300 members but there are spots available for new members especially from the North.

Recently the tournaments have rotated North and South with great venues such as the Vintage Club, El Dorado Country Club, the Preserve, Quail Lodge Golf Club, Toscana Country Club, the Plantation Golf Club, Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Indian Ridge Country Club and Olympic Club.

The upcoming schedule is quite attractive with Lakeside Golf Club and Oakmont country Club in 2016, with Monterey Peninsula in 2017, La Jolla Country Club and Rancho Santa Fe Golf Club in 2018 and hopefully Olympic Club again in 2019.

2016 CSGA President Tom Morgan

Tom Morgan, executive director of the SCGA from 1993-2006 and board member of Lakeside Golf Club, passed away August 30 while in Hawaii with his wife Toni. He was 75 years old.

"This is a profound loss for the SCGA and golf in Southern California," said SCGA Executive Director Kevin Heaney. "Tom was one of the most distinguished leaders and administrators of our game, uniquely serving both the amateur and professional sides of golf. Aside from all the skills he possessed, he was an extraordinary person. For me personally he was a colleague, mentor and true friend. He will be deeply missed by all who knew him."

A graduate of UC Santa Barbara who spent two years in the Army, Morgan was an integral part of the SCGA for decades, having worked with the Association as assistant to then-Executive Director Newell Pinch for 10 years before leaving in the early '80s to become executive director of the Century Club, overseeing the San Diego PGA TOUR stop that is now the Farmers Insurance Open. He would then return to the SCGA as executive director in '93. Under his leadership, the SCGA drove new programming and expanded membership. Since his retirement, he has served as the emcee of the annual SCGA Hall of Fame ceremony beginning with its 2007 inaugural class.

In addition to his time spent with the SCGA, Morgan was extremely involved with other aspects of the golf industry, serving as the 2006 president of the International Association of Golf Administrators and was currently serving as president of the California Seniors Golf Association. His path in the golf industry began when he served as assistant commissioner of the CIF-Southern Section. It was during that time that the SCGA/CIF High School Golf Championship was founded. Morgan also served in national and regional organizations including the USGA's Regional Associations and Joe Dey Award Committees, golf advisory committees for the City and County of Los Angeles, the SCPGA and the Los Angeles Sports and Entertainment Commission.

A Celebration of Life memorial and opportunities to donate to charities in his name are pending.

I know your hearts will be with all those so deeply affected by this tragic loss.
